
Why are people supposed to learn English?

K.Noralieva.G.Norpulatova

(There are many reasons to learn English and those reasons stated below can be helpful to catch the point .Put this list somewhere you can see it and will motivate you to keep going on even when you are tired of trying to figure out the rules of this language.)

Firstly, The English language is most commonly used language among foreign language speakers. Throughout the world when people with different languages come together they commonly use English to communicate and anyway even though it is one of the most difficult languages in the world people try to learn this language.

Well, knowing English will make one bilingual and more employable in every country in the world.

Especially, in industry the role of the English language has been important for ages and still it is kept. Despite China, the United states is still a leader in technical innovation and economic development. English is used in the United states and in each this field.

Moreover, English is the commonly adopted as a second language in Germany, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and the Netherlands¹ which causes the prosperity of the English language much faster.

In science the prosperity of this language is thriving as well which can be encouragement for people who work in other fields doing some research and want to represent round the world by being aware of the importance of this language. In other words, to excel science and be sure at the latest science inventions one is supposed to be able to have enough knowledge at English.

To make people not get worried about the difficulty supposing to face while learning the language there is something that English is based on an alphabet and with the comparison of the Chinese English is learned much quickly.

Furthermore, knowing English is supposed to be important for society members who are out of science but keen on watching films and getting great pleasure in such fields as The English language is also the language of the Film industry which means one no longer has to rely on subtitles . Because, there are hardly anyone that not trying to learn English and this causes even less demand for subtitles...

Without doubt, today's thriving world literature cannot be imagined without this language. The work written in Indian or any other languages are certainly translated into English as not everyone is capable of reading the work in origin language. The most popular world libraries are also full of well-known manuscripts written in English.

In other words, many of the world's top films, books and music are published and produced in English. Therefore, by learning English on will have access to a great wealthy of entertainment and will be able to have a greater cultural understanding.

There is a well-known entertaining show called Eurovision context has more fans than any other competitions of the world. In spite of the fact that it is non sporting competition, men, women and even the youth are becoming fans of this competition² . According to its previous rules only European countries are supposed to participate in this event. But recently, as some other countries from other continents conveyed great interest for this show, the fame of this show and the songs sung in the competition will spread throughout the world. All the songs, expressions, regards of the competition are in English.

That's to say, without knowing English one cannot be capable of taking part in this competition. All the winning songs are in English and listened with great pleasure by millions of people all over the place. However, if the song is in another language may be allowed to participate, cannot win as people round the world are not able to understand other infamous languages except the English language.

It is estimated that the number of people in the world that use in English to communicate on a regular basis is 2 billion³.

Moreover, People keen on traveling around the world use this language in order to communicate even though their trips are outside of the English speaking countries. Cause, host people usually understand only the English language besides the native language.(In some cases, other famous languages such as German, Russian, Spanish, French and etc.)

To sum up, I think, learning the English language can give more chances than another language gives as necessity for this language is increasing dramatically almost in each field.

Not only for pleasure, travelling, being able to aware of the latest world news(most of the content produced on the internet (50%) is in English⁴ so knowing English gives one opportunity to access to an incredible amount of information which may not be otherwise available), but also for having a good career, for better future life, being English speaker is getting much necessary than ever before...

1. blog.esl-languages.com
2. m.grin.com
3. Englishlive.ef.com
4. www.research-publishing.net